

Medicaid, Medicare, Social Security, and SSI are Lifelines for Indiana Residents with Disabilities

Lifelines for Hoosiers with Disabilities...

Medicaid, Medicare, Social Security, and Supplemental Security Income (SSI) are lifelines for Hoosiers with disabilities, including people with intellectual and developmental disabilities (I/DD) and their families:

- Medicaid
 - Indiana's Medicaid program enrolls over 1,231,000 people including over 188,000 non-elderly adults and children with disabilities.¹
 - Over 12,700 Hoosiers with I/DD receive Medicaid home and community-based (HCBS) services.²
- Medicare
 - Medicare enrolls over 1,068,000 Hoosiers, including over 209,000 people with disabilities.³
- Social Security
 - Social Security serves over 1,244,000 Hoosiers, including over 233,000 Social Security Disability Insurance (SSDI) beneficiaries, along with their spouses and dependent children.⁴
- SSI
 - SSI serves over 124,000 low-income seniors and people with disabilities in Indiana.⁴

...that Boost the Indiana Economy

Medicaid and Medicare bring federal dollars into Indiana and help create jobs:

- Medicaid brought the state of Indiana over $5.0 billion in federal dollars in 2012.⁵
- Medicare spending in Indiana was over $9.6 billion in 2009.⁶

Social Security and SSI benefits are typically spent in-state and help boost the Indiana economy:

- Social Security paid over $17.7 billion in benefits to Hoosiers in 2013, including over $3.1 billion in Social Security Disability Insurance (SSDI) benefits.⁴
- SSI paid over $780 million in federal benefits to Hoosiers in 2013.⁴
